

2018 Updated Salon Services with Descriptions

The idea here is to make a clean looking “services page.” Each italicized word represents a page or section where each service and price (highlighted) are shown. The user should be able to select each service and be directed to the description (underlined). The exceptions of this rule is COLOR, WAX, and WEDDINGS.. For these I would like the general description to be shown before the service and price is shown. (I.E. User would see Wax and general description, then after clicking on Wax they would see the full list of services)... Each page needs to be featured with an Aveda photo that corresponds with service as well.
